West Sac man survives shooting

West Sacramento police are still investigating the shooting of a local resident on Saturday in the Broderick neighborhood.

Officers responded to the area of Arthur Drive and Cummins Way at about 1:58 p.m., after a report that a person had been shot. While they were responding, the victim arrived at the police department with several gunshot wounds to the torso, said a press release from the police department.

Police records identify him as 20-year old Andrew Jesus Sarcos of Fernwood Street.

Further information was hard to come by. Lieutenant DeAnna Stevens of the West Sacramento Police Department said no arrests have been made. Personnel close to the investigation weren't immediately available. The department's press release said the victim's condition was not known.

'Pool-a-palooza will have to wait until next year

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The final word is, it's off – until next year.

The West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce planned a festive new fundraising event for July 17. The "Pool-a-Palooza" party was to be held at the swimming pools at the high school and city recreation center in Southport, with fine foods and wines, a tropical theme and a Jimmy Buffet tribute band to set the tone.

Sponsors and ticket prices would support the chamber as well as the rec center's "Play Dough" fund, which subsidizes underprivileged youth to use the facility without paying the usual fees.

But some glitches came up in the planning of the event. Organizers suspended it, then thought they would be able to solve the problems and move forward. Yesterday evening, chamber executive director Denice Seals said it was definitely "off" until 2011.

"As our committee and partners got into the final details of planning the event," there were problems, said Seals. "There was a problem with this particular location."

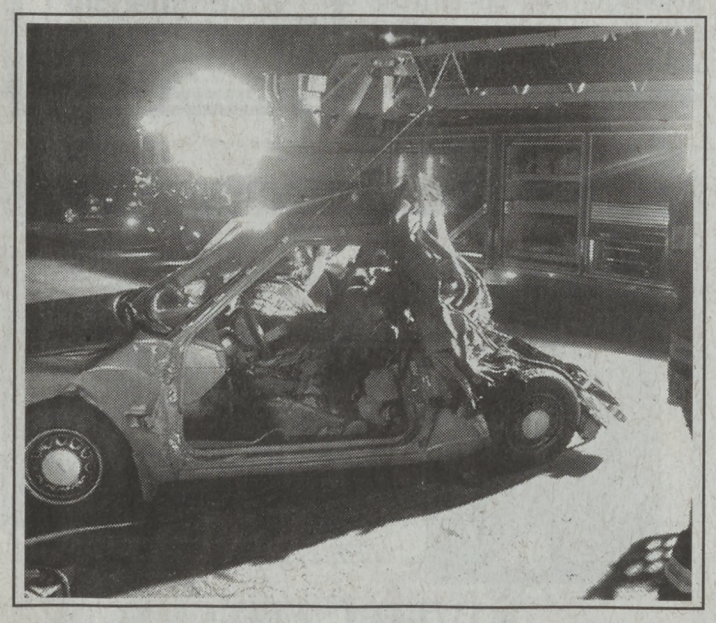
Did the problem have to do with serving alcohol at an event on school district property?

"It got really confusing," she said, suggesting the News-Ledger talk to WUSD for more details.

"We're really just looking forward to a big event next year. There are a lot of fine details to work out. But we are planning to have it next year, and make it even better."

School district officials couldn't immediately be reached for comment late yesterday.

4-vehicle accident on freeway bridge



West Sacramento firefighters responded last week to a four-vehicle accident in the westbound lanes of U.S. 50 on the Pioneer Bridge. They found three of the vehicles had suffered major damage, three people were injured and two of them needed to be extracted from their cars. Three lanes were blocked. Four units from West Sacramento were joined by a Sacramento fire engine to help extract and treat the motorists before the injured were transported to UC Davis Medical Center. Suspicious fire follows vandalism

Feds join investigation to possible 'hate crime' at charity

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

There's no question about the vandalism. Someone slashed tires and broke windshields of several vehicles at the Broderick Christian Center a couple of times late last week.

But a raging fire discovered Sunday morning is still being looked at as "suspicious," and possibly arson.

"Right now, we're investigating it," said Division Chief Gary Fredericksen of the West Sacramento Fire Department. He explained that the fire may have been arson, or it may have sprung from an electrical problem. The federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms has joined local police and firefighters in investigating the fire because the Broderick Christian Center is affiliated with a church organization. There exists the possibility that the Baptist group was hit by a hate crime.

The fire started near an air conditioning unit on the west side of a building used as a day shelter and meal center for transients and low-income residents.

"We've got a couple of electrical sockets in the area it started," said Fredericksen. "We believe it's a suspicious fire but we can't rule out the sockets."

After some testing is finished, said Fredericksen, "I think we'll be able to narrow it down to whether it was electrical or whether an accelerant was present."

Specially trained dogs did not pick up the smell of an accelerant at the site.

Alvin Lewis, Jr., is executive director of the Broderick Christian Center. Yesterday, the News-Ledger found him working on logistics for the 6th Street site's other services, such as its day care center, while dealing with the fallout from the fire.

He credit's the burned building's slate exterior with helping to keep the flames from spreading to the rest of the property.

"We also have transitional housing services, transportation services and a child development center," said Lewis. "None of those services were affected. It was the day shelter program that provided services to homeless clients. It provided two meals a day, Monday through Friday, breakfast and lunch. There's a washer and dryer to clean clothes, and a shower facility."

The center gave the homeless a place to go to get in out of the weather during the day. About 100 people visited daily, "fluctuating with the weather," said Lewis. The clients could avail themselves of counseling to transition out of homelessness or find employment, but they weren't required to.

The fire was discovered at about 9:40 a.m. Sunday, when the facility was closed but residential neighbors were presumably active. It came after a couple of days of vandalism.

"Two vehicles had their tires slashed and windshields broken late Friday night or early Saturday morning," said Lewis. "Three more vehicles late Saturday night to early Sunday morning."

Lewis said the building was insured. It will either be fixed or demolished and replaced.

"The best-case scenario, is probably four or five months, and it could be as long as a year," he told the News-Ledger. "It probably helps that there are a lot of hungry contractors out there right now."

In the meantime, the services of the day shelter are out of commission. But some local churches have stepped up to help fill the gap.

"The River of Life church has gathered several churches and will start delivering meals," he said. "We're trying to support the churches as much as we can."

The center survives on money from a variety of federal, state and county funding. Does it need extra money in this crisis? Or volunteers?

"Right now, we need mostly cash donations," Lewis responded. Anybody who can help is invited to contact Patricia McDonald at the Broderick Christian Center, 372-0200 ext. 105.

As of yesterday, a police department spokesperson said there had been no arrests for the vandalism attacks or suspicious fire.

As for possible "persons of interest," the Broderick Christian Center did have a former employee who was accused of embezzlement within the past few years. Investigators are aware of that person, said one person close to the investigation.

RIGHT: A slashed tire and broken windshield on a Broderick Christian Center van. This windshield had just been replaced after being shattered the previous night. The dark residue on the van's side is left over after local police dusted for fingerprints in a search for the culprit.

BELOW: Alvin Lewis, Jr., the executive director of the center, shows the point of origin of Sunday's fire. Investigators are trying to determine if it was a case of arson, or just an electrical fire in the building, which was over 50 years old.

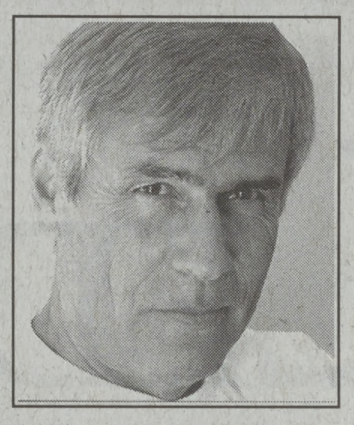
A country-western romance

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Editor's note: Daryl is off this week. Below is one of his favorite columns from the past. It is also the column which won him the California Newspaper Publishers Association gold medal for column writing in a small-town weekly newspaper back in 1992.

Have you ever wondered what really goes on in one of those hard-drinking, skirt-chasing country-western bars on a Saturday night? You know, one of those places where the parking lot is full of pickup trucks and inside the guys are riding mechanical bulls and all the gals are line-dancing? I mean, do lonely young men and women in cowboy hats and boots interact any differently than their counterparts in expensive suits and fancy dresses? And just where in the world do those country-western singers come up with all those great song titles and lyrics that make their music so popular?

Well, for some reason, these and other equally deep questions were galloping through my head the other night just as I was about to fall asleep. And the result was this rather strange dream I had about a good-looking young cowboy dressed up in a Roy Rogers outfit strolling up to a pretty young cowgirl who was the spitting image of Patsy Cline. She was seated all by herself at a corner table of a bar called Cotton-Eyed Joe's and although it's all pretty fuzzy to me right now, I do remember that a song entitled You Done Me Wrong And That Ain't Right was playing softly on a juke box in the background, and I think their conversation went a little something like this:

"Ma'am," said the cowboy to the cowgirl, "I'm feeling a little low-down tonight, and I'd sure like to buy you a drink, but If The Devil Danced In Empty Pockets, He'd Have A Ball In Mine."

She looked up at him, forced a half-smile and said, "That's okay, handsome, I'm Just Killing Time 'Til This Heartache Kills Me. Why don't you pull up a chair and Come On In Out Of The Pain."

He gladly sat down beside the pretty lady with the sad eyes and politely removed his Garth-Brooks-like hat. "I couldn't help noticing that you look a little like you got the Below The Mason-Dixon Line Blues, too," he said.

"It's just that Every Time I Try To Make My Mark, Someone Paints The Wall," she explained. He nodded that he understood as she slowly looked up from her drink and added, "Sometimes I swear, I Don't Know Whether To Kill Myself Or Go Bowling."

"I know just how you feel," he said sympathetically. "I guess it's just one of those nights when Even The Man In The Moon Is Crying." He looked down at his watch.

"What time is it?" she asked him.

"Ma'am," he said, "it's not even midnight yet, but I'm afraid I'm on Lonesome Standard Time. Would you care to dance?"

"No, I don't think so," she replied. "The last time I danced with a man, He Got The Rhythm And I Got The Blues."

"I know right where you're coming from," he said. "When my woman left me, "She Got The Gold Mine And I Got The Shaft."

"You know," she said, "sometimes I think it's just me. Maybe I Was Born With A Broken Heart?" A tear came to her eye. "A Little More Hurt Can't Hurt Me," she bravely added, "but Seven Days Of Crying Makes One Weak."

"Ma'am," he said, "please don't think that way. You're a very attractive woman, and to tell you the truth, I Want You Bad And That Ain't Good."

"Really?" she asked, obviously surprised and a little bit alarmed.

"I sure hope I haven't said something inappropriate, Ma'am."

"Oh, no, it's not that," she quickly said, "it's just that I Don't Want To Go Back To Heartbreak School Cause I've Already Earned My Degree in Misery."

"I can certainly relate to that," he said. "In fact, to tell you the truth, Ma'am, The Last Time My Ship Came In, I Was Waiting For The Train."

> 'Ma'am,' he said, taking a deep breath, 'it may be true that The Girls All Get Prettier At Closing Time, but I want you to believe me when I say I'm Not Just Another Walk-Away Joe.'

"Maybe We're Two Of A Kind, Working On A Full House?" she asked him.

"Ma'am," he said, taking a deep breath, "it may be true that The Girls All Get Prettier At Closing Time, but I want you to believe me when I say I'm Not Just Another Walk-Away Joe." She smiled and nodded her appreciation. "And Ma'am," he added with his voice lowered, "right now "There Ain't No Queen In My King-Sized Bed, and If I Said You Had A Beautiful Body, Would You Hold It Against Me?"

She looked lovingly over at his rugged John Wayne face and returned his warm and hopeful smile.

"Well," she finally answered, "okay, I guess it would be alright, cause I Need Some Time Off For Bad Behavior, but you have to promise me something."

"Oh, you just name it , Ma'am."

"If I'm Not The First, Just Say I'll Be The Last."

"You got it, Ma'am."

"And who knows," she said to him as they cautiously took each other's hand and stood up to leave the bar, "maybe for the first time in ages, we'll both wake up tomorrow morning without an Achy-Breaky Heart."

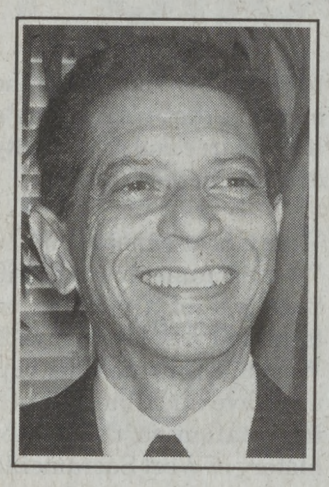
SPORTS INSIDER



By Richard Novoa

The United States World Cup soccer dreams were crushed by the Ghana again in another excruciating 2-1 overtime loss to the African Nation in the round of 16. The Black Stars of Ghana sent the USA packing for home while they advance to the quarterfinals to play Uruguay. Ghana dominated the first half by a wide margin, the USA took the second half, but Ghana again had the edge in overtime.

The Americans never led during any of their World Cup matches and always seemed to be playing catch up soccer fronting their opponent's early goals and forcing the hardnosed Americans to fight the clock. The U.S.A. offense was led throughout the tournament by greatest United States player in World Cup history, Landon Donovan, who scored three of the five U.S. goals.

The Americans squandered a chance to win over much of a country, who had fallen in love with the Red, White and Blue. Saturday's United States/Ghana match on ABC earned an 8.2 rating and averaged 14.863 million viewers for the match window, nearly 2 million greater than the USA vs. England match.

The U.S. defeat reeked of missed opportunities and again, just like at the 2006 World Cup, the U.S. forwards failed to score a goal. The World Cup comes around every four years and our country was briefly captivated by the surge of the Americans success in winning the Group C bracket over England but what's going to happen to U.S. soccer in four years when Brazil host the next World Cup in 2014. Many of the key players like Donovan, Dempsey and Howard will be over 30.

There aren't many players coming up. That was made evident on Saturday as Ghana started three players from its 2009 Under-20 World Cup championship team. Ghana's youngsters came up big in the biggest match of their senior international careers. The Black Stars started six players 23 or younger, including three players from their 2009 Under-20 World Cup championship team. Who does the USA have coming up from its U-20 team? Maybe one or two of its graduates are playing first-team soccer in the MLS or overseas. This is a big problem for the development of soccer talent to compete on the global stage.

The quarter finals on July 2nd will feature Brazil against Holland, Uruguay vs. Ghana, Germany vs. Argentina and Paraguay against either Spain or Portugal. My pick to meet in the World Cup final is Argentina against the winner of the Netherlands and Brazil game.

Another huge problem for all world cup teams and fans was the quality or should I say the lack of quality of FIFA officials. The referee's in many games missed goals, blew offside calls, and were just unable to communicate with the players. Between the flopping players and grabbing and pushing on the corner kicks the referee's had a rough time and it will probably allow the governing body of FIFA to start to use some sort of technology to help the overwhelmed referees.

Kings Korner

Sacramento Kings, who want to play more defense next season, drafted two big centers selecting Kentucky's DeMarcus Cousins (5th overall) and Marshall's Hassan Whiteside (33rd overall). Cousins, the Southeastern Conference (SEC) Freshman of the Year, was named to the Associated Press First Team All-America and the John R. Wooden Award All-American Team. With the trade of Spencer Hawes, the 6-11, 270-pound Cousins, who averaged 15.1 points, 9.8 rebounds and 1.8 blocks last season at Kentucky, will try and fill the void under the boards.

Hassan Whiteside, also an early entry candidate, was the 2010 Conference USA Defensive Player of the Year and Freshman of the Year after averaging 13.1 points, 8.9 rebounds, and a Division I leading 5.35 blocks per game in 34 contests for Marshall. The 7-0, 235-pound center set school records for most blocks in a season and career with 182, the fourth highest season total in Division I history and the second most by a freshman but I think Whiteside will be what they call a "project player".

Overall, the Kings added some depth to their frontcourt especially after they acquired forward/center Samuel Dalembert to help Carl Landry and Jason Thompson grab some boards.

Diamond Notes

The Giants (40-35) slipped to third place after the Dodgers beat them on Monday night and are trailing the division leading Padres by 4 games. The Dodgers will be in town for a few more days before the G-Men head to Colorado.

The A's (37-40), who have fallen 10 games back of the Texas Rangers, swept the Pirates over the weekend and are now headed to the East Coast to play in Baltimore and a 4th of July weekend in Cleveland. The A's will be back on Monday to host a three game series against the New York Yankees.

River Cats

The River Cats (41-38) are on fire winning 12 of their last 15 games and closing the gap to 7 games on the division leading Fresno Grizzlies. The Gatos still have eight games remaining with the Grizzlies all at Raley Field. Fresno will be in town for a three- game series starting on Thursday, July 1st.

The surge in run production is due to the contributions at the plate from Michael Taylor, Steve Tolleson and Eric Sogard. It also helped that A's outfielder, Coco Crisp, hit .591 and scored seven runs during his brief six-game rehabilitation assignment in Sacramento.

The A's also made a trade over the weekend moving former River Cats infielder-outfielder, Eric Patterson to the Boston Red Sox for minor league pitcher Fabian Williams.

Enjoy your July 4th weekend – see ya next week!

Funding question

"California State Parks plagued by decay", so says the Sacramento Bee. Over $1.3 billion in maintenance backlogs. Is this what is to come to West Sacramento? Something to think about when State Parks wants to raise and spend $200 million on our beautiful and one of a kind waterfront for the California Indian Heritage Center. This question has plagued this project from the beginning: how will it be funded and adequately maintained?

Remembering that tree

(Editor's note: this letter concerns the disputed history of a walnut or walnut-hybrid tree on Tower Street, discussed in last week's News-Ledger. The large specimen is in the path of the Fulcrum project.)

I was born in West Sacramento on the River Road between Linden Road and the Alaska Packers. My family moved to Westgate where we were friends with the Butalo family that lived on the corner of 15th Street and what is now South River Road. They had a small peach orchard that backed up to Mill Street and the old walnut tree in question was between Mill Street and Tower Street. I remember wishing I had a tree like that, which we thought to be an oak tree.

I became friends with the family that bought the property and built a small cabin on the back of their property to live in until they built the larger house that is still there.

I remember the girl who lived there and became my close friend, Alrredia McCoulough, and also her mother, Jeri, and her grandmother, Nellie. Nellie was a tiny lady but she was mighty and used to brag about how smart she was to have built their cabin in the shade of that big tree. We also put tables and chairs in the yard to eat dinner and visit in the shade of that tree. It was a mature tree and gave plenty of shade in the afternoon.

I am a board member of the West Sacramento Historical Society and a member at large and very familiar with West Sacramento's history, and have contributed much information on the earlier history of West Sacramento and have seen many changes over the years.

Business cited in 'environmental sweep'

Yolo County District Attorney Jeff Reisig announced today that the District Attorney's Environmental and Consumer Protection Unit, in conjunction with the Yolo County Department of Health Hazardous Materials Unit, the West Sacramento Police Department, the California Bureau of Automotive Repair, the Sacramento County Auto Theft Suppression Task Force, the Board of Equalization, the Employment Development Department, and the California Labor Commissioner conducted an industrial pollution prevention sweep in West Sacramento on June 15.

The sweep aimed to identify businesses that illegally produce hazardous materials or waste that pollute the air and soil or illegally discharge into the soil, water or air, said the D.A.'s office.

According to the D.A., the operation resulted from reports of illegal dumping and unlicensed activities in the area, and evidence of certain businesses engaging in unfair business competition by trying to gain an advantage over law-abiding businesses. These businesses were failing to pay taxes on goods and services and were paying cash to their employees and thereby failing to pay tax withholdings.

As a result of the sweep, law enforcement issued citations for illegal storage and disposal of hazardous wastes, air quality violations, wage code violations, being unlicensed, failure to keep proper records, and municipal and fire code violations.

Businesses cited include: Green Metal Fabricating, M&G Truck Service Aqua Systems, Vyarkh, Big Valley Metals, Georges Body Shop; M&M Mobile Repair, Lee W. Hallstrom (an individual), Hallerman Marine, OIG Towing and Auto Repair, Anita Auto Dismantling, Target's Specialty Products, and Dan's Service.

"We find that businesses who disregard legal requirement in one area of the law are typically ignoring other requirements such as wage and hour laws and creating a great disadvantage to employers who are in compliance," said California Labor Commissioner Angela Bradstreet in a press release. "Our involvement in this enforcement action found employers not providing required workers' comp coverage, illegally employing minors and not paying employees their proper wages. We will work with District Attorney Reisig to hold the violating employers accountable."

"It's no surprise that many of the businesses that failed to follow pollution regulations are also neglecting their duty to pay taxes and to have the proper licenses to conduct business," said Yolo D.A. Jeff Reisig in a press release. "These illegal acts result in additional costs to the public and put law-abiding business at a real disadvantage. We will continue to conduct operations such as this to root out the offenders."

Sizing up the GRIMP

Just after midnight one day in December, 1984, the sirens went off at a Union Carbide chemical plant in Bhopal, India. The plant was leaking toxic gases used in pesticide manufacture. Before the leak was contained, at least 3,700 neighbors (probably many more) were left dead or mortally wounded. Thousands more were left disabled.

Two months ago, a deep water oil drilling rig in the Gulf of Mexico suffered an explosion while finishing up a well in a mile of water. Crewmembers died, and the resulting oil leak will go down as the largest in the nation's history, threatening the environment and economy of an entire U.S. region.

Sherman K. Stein might call events such as these a fine example of the GRIMP.

Stein is a former math professor at UC Davis. He has authored a book about how math should be used, and shouldn't be used, in fields such as public policy. In "Survival Guide for Outsiders: How to Protect Yourself from Politicians, Experts and Other Insiders," he talks about how a little knowledge can help us avoid falling victim to the misuse of math by politicians and others.

What's a GRIMP?

It's what he calls a Great Risk with Minute Probability. It's the risk of something that is extremely unlikely but potentially catastrophic. Because many such "great risks" have never happened (nuclear war), we don't really have a basis to measure their likelihood. We know they're unlikely. We know they're catastrophic. But we don't have a way to get a handle on the risk.

West Sacramento has a few local GRIMPs. One of them is the risk of a catastrophic flood – we simply don't really know all the variables, although we're aiming for a "one in 200" chance of flood protection failure each year.

Another GRIMP is the Agrium fertilizer plant next to the deep water channel.

Now, the Agrium plant is a very well run, very "safe" plant, despite a minor leak of anhydrous ammonia earlier this month. We have been told it's safe by plant officials, by the local fire department, even by a citizen's group some years ago that toured the plant while campaigning against it. No responsible party has ever criticized the quality of the plant's operations.

Yet it remains that the plant houses tons of a toxic substance that can be disbursed in the form of a gas, and a major leak from it (or from rail cars that serve it) could be disastrous to local residents.

So how safe is it? How do you calculate the risk?

It's unlikely that such a plant could be built in the city today. But here it is now, and we've long stopped talking about it. City leaders need to make a proactive, informed decision on whether to encourage the plant, or to discourage it, as a member of this community in the years to come.

Mrs. Paul Dupzyk is home from San Francisco after spending a week or ten days with friends and relatives around the Bay.

Mrs. Hugo Frommelt is greatly improved after a severe spell of sickness. Yesterday she was able to sit up and hopes to be able to mix in the Christmas cheer.

Mrs. Mayme Conzetti was the winner of a prize of $100 last Wednesday in the contest promoted by the Sacramento Union for the best scenario turned in by amateurs in this section of the State. Mrs. Conzetti collaborated with Alice Haynes (Mrs. Walter Dodge) of Sacramento in writing "On To the Diggins," and this was judged by several competent judges to be the most practical out of 150 similar scenarios turned in. Many professionals took part in the contest, and that these ladies won first prize is saying a great deal for their work giving them admittance to possibilities along this line that cannot be overestimated.

The death of Mrs. Lillie Patton occurred last Monday a few miles north of Lodi when an automobile overturned on a wet road, resulting in bodily injuries that brought instant death. On her way to Sacramento the automobile, driven by Mr. Whitten, upset at Jahant's corner, resulting in a broken neck for Mrs. Patton and apparently instantaneous death. Mrs. Patton was born and raised in Washington. Prior to her marriage she was Lillie James, a niece of Pat Mulholland, and was considered a prepossessing young lady at the time of her marriage.

Last Saturday, John Salonen, a Finn, was sent to the county jail for thirty days by Judge Barry on a charge of vagrancy. Salonen was accused of stealing pork from the Leinberger slaughter house and was arrested in Sacramento with some of the meat in his possession. He claimed that a companion had given him the meat, but that was not sufficient explanation. He could not be prosecuted for robbery because the evidence was circumstantial. Pleading guilty to vagrancy he was sent up during the rainy weather to keep out of trouble.

A peculiar runaway took place last Tuesday when a large team owned by a Japanese of Riverbank started from the Post Office, running west as far as Fifth Street. Instead of turning across the railroad crossing at this point the team continued along the railroad tracks to the culvert at Seventh Street. Fortunately it stopped there and was diverted to the main highway. Had it continued farther likely both horses would have broken their legs in crossing the culvert.

BLUE CROSS PROMISES A SPLENDID PROGRAM ON CHRISTMAS EVE

Preparations have been made for an extraordinary entertainment to be given next Saturday evening in the town hall by members of the Mexican Blue Cross for the benefit of poor Spanish speaking children.

A unique program has been prepared which will be something entirely new, and while some of it will be rendered in Spanish, a portion will be rendered in English.

Following the program there will be a grand ball that will wind up at midnight.

A jazz orchestra has been employed to render music.

The Blue Cross is composed of young ladies who will appear in regalia and who may go through the exercises of the organization.

A special feature of the entertainment will be a feed of Spanish dishes specially prepared by the ladies of the Blue Cross.

HOWARD'S DEATH WAS SUDDEN AND UNEXPECTED

Last Friday night about 9 p. m. Samuel B. Howard dropped dead at his home on Second Street. He had not been feeling well for a few weeks previously but was able to be around attending to his work, although he was suffering somewhat from asthma.

About 9 p. m. he retired and in less than half an hour he breathed his last, due mostly to contraction of the arteries around his heart.

A physician was summoned by his family but arrived too late to do him any good.

Howard was 68 years, 6 months and 3 days old at the time of his death. During the past three years he and his family were residents of Washington, where they cultivated many friendships.

He was a native of Indiana and was a member of the South Methodist Church but was not a regular attendant.

His funeral took place last Tuesday, interment being in East Lawn cemetery.

Besides his wife he leaves to mourn him a large family: Mrs. Margaret Gettle, Mrs. Maude Argo, Mrs. Lottie Hazelton, Mrs. Myrtle Dennis, Mrs. Bessie Curry, William E., Charles E., Jasper S., Claude O., and Frank L. Howard.

RESIDENT OF BRYTE STABBED AT GRIDLEY LAST TUESDAY

Joe Sanders, living near Bryte, Yolo County, is at the point of death and Fred Haynes is being held in the city jail at Gridley as the result of a stabbing affray at a reclamation camp near Gridley arising out of a game of dice.

Sanders was stabbed in the back with a long butcher knife. The point penetrated the kidneys and protroded through the abdomen. He was taken to the Orange Hotel in Gridley, where it is said he has a fighting chance for his life.

The men were shaking dice in one of the buildings when Sanders accused Haynes of using loaded dice, and demanded he pay him back $8 which the latter had won. Hot words followed, and when Sanders turned toward the door, bystanders declared Haynes secured the knife and stabbed his accuser.

RAILROAD CROSSING AT THIRD STREET SHOULD HAVE ATTENTION

Several times The Independent has drawn attention to the deplorable condition at the foot of the incline to the Southern Pacific bridge.

Last week the track gang of the Southern Pacific Company made repairs at the crossing over the rails but overlooked the roadway in the immediate vicinity at the foot of the incline.

The track foreman had been told to leave that portion of the roadway untouched and he didn't neglect to obey orders.

But in the meantime the road is becoming dangerous. Great chuckholes are being worked out by automobiles that hit the spot with a jerk and skid dangerously from side to side with the result that the gravel is gradually working out in some places and leaving bumps in other places.

Auto springs have been broken and some traveler, these foggy mornings, will get his foolish neck broken at this point.

Travelers are cautioned to approach the place on low speed, otherwise there may be a case for the coroner.

A State flour mill at Bismarck, North Dakota, was operated at a loss of $81,000 last year.

And yet some people have the hardihood to recommend that municipalities should buy up street car lines.

A young girl of sixteen in Klamath Falls, Oregon, was assaulted the other day by a preacher.

He claimed he was doing it for her good.

CHRISTMAS TREE FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN AND SUNDAY SCHOOL

Last night in the auditorium of the public school building nearly all the children of Washington and their parents assembled to take part in an entertainment that was promoted and financed by the Parent-Teacher Association.

An elaborate program had been prepared by the children under the guidance of the teachers and without a hitch it went through to the great entertainment of the parents and the children.

Not a child left the school building without some token of the beneficence of Santa Claus, for if they received nothing else each and every one of them received a bag of candy.

Friday night the children of the Sunday school of the Community Church will have a Christmas tree to which invitations are necessary.

The same tree will serve for this occasion and it will be decorated in similar manner to that of Wednesday evening.

There are no poor children in Washington who are suffering from a dearth of good things during this Christmas, and those who are so poor they cannot obtain it themselves, neighbors and friends have lent a kindly hand to make the children feel that Santa Claus is not a dream but a reality.

FREE FERRY AT CLARKSBURG BRINGS MORE TRAVEL

The monthly report sheet of the Clarksburg free ferry filed with the board of supervisors brings to light the fact that river travel is increasing rapidly since the ferry was established some months ago.

From the sheet these figures are taken. During the month of November 3344 passenger autos carrying 9,231 persons were ferried across the Sacramento river; 281 trucks and 34 horse drawn vehicles also were ferried across. These figures indicate what an important part of the county is that of the down river section.

Congress has been charged with many things except speeding.

Make choices to avoid unhealthy air -- especially for kids

From the Yolo Solano Air Quality Management District

With warm weather and the possible increase in ozone levels, the Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District offers the following recommendations for children's activities. While regular exercise and outdoor activities are good for kids, there are times parents and coaches should make simple changes in activity levels. The District recommends that they check the Air Quality Index (AQI) forecast each day when planning children's outdoor activities.

When the forecast is "orange" or "unhealthy for sensitive groups" which begins at 101 on the AQI, adjust when and how kids exercise or play outside especially for children with asthma. In general, short periods outside, such as recess, present less risk for children. Mornings are usually better than afternoons because the ozone level increases with the heat of the day. Automatic notification of the forecast can be obtained by signing up for Enviroflash at http://ysaqmd/enviroflash.org.

For outdoor activities:

· Have kids take it a little easier when the air is polluted, so they breathe less pollution. For example, reduce activities that involve running or take more frequent breaks.

· If there is flexibility in scheduling an outdoor activity, change it to a time when air quality is better. In some areas, air quality is better early in the day.

· For children with asthma, follow their asthma action plan. If the child has a quick relief inhaler, be sure it is always handy.

· Make indoor space available, as needed, for children who complain of difficulty breathing, or who have heart or lung disease (such as asthma).

Additional recommendations for sporting events and athletic practice and training:

· Increase rest breaks and substitutions to lower breathing rates.

· In athletic practices, include activities that involve walking rather than running.

· Even healthy athletes can have negative health effects from air pollution.

Always decrease other exposures to unhealthy air:

· Choose areas away from busy streets for children to walk, exercise or play.

· Make sure children avoid standing near vehicles that are idling

The Yolo-Solano AQMD is a public health agency dedicated to protecting human health and property from the harmful effects of air pollution. For more information, go to www.ysaqmd.org or call (800) 287-3650.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF EVA ESPINOSA MONTANO
CASE NUMBER PB-10-90

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of EVA ESPINOSA MONTANO:

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Ernest P. Montano in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

The Petition for Probate requests that Ernest P. Montano be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: July 14, 2010, at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. 15, Superior Court of California, County of Yolo, 725 Court St., Woodland CA 95695.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a "Request for Special Notice" (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A "Request for Special Notice" form is available from the court clerk.
